Tough Topics: Youth Violence Prevention Programme

An interactive programme with discussion cards addressing real-world scenarios related to youth violence and promoting respect

By Junior Smart OBE, Youth Violence Intervention Expert

Junior is a nationally recognised expert with over 20 years of experience in youth violence and conflict intervention. He has worked in the field of youth violence desistance and gangs, is a youth leader and campaigner as well as a qualified trainer and recognised violence intervention specialist. He is credited with developing the award-winning SOS and SOS+ projects at St Giles Trust, both of which harness the value of lived experience and stand as the UK's largest ex-offender-led exit and prevention programmes.

Youth violence is a pressing issue affecting schools and communities worldwide. Educators and youth workers need effective, engaging tools to address this challenge. Introducing Tough Topics – Youth Violence Prevention, a cutting-edge interactive educational program designed for ages 11 and up.

Why Tough Topics Stands Apart:

- Realistic Scenarios: Engage students with 20 true-to-life situations reflecting challenges they may encounter, such as bullying, peer pressure and gang involvement
- Interactive Discussions: Foster critical thinking and empathy through guided conversations.
- Empowerment Focus: Equip young people skills to make positive choices and become agents of change.
- Flexible Application: Suitable for classroom discussions, advisory sessions, after-school programmes and community initiatives.

Key Features:

1. Founding Principles: Start with 15 core concepts to build a shared understanding of non-violence and respect.
2. Scenario Cards: Explore complex issues through carefully crafted, age-appropriate situations.
3. Prompt Questions: Encourage deep reflection and problem-solving with thought-provoking queries.
4. Comprehensive Guide: Detailed facilitator instructions ensure meaningful, safe discussions.

Participants will gain:

- Increased awareness of youth violence causes and consequences
- Improved critical thinking and communication skills
- Enhanced empathy and understanding
- Knowledge of prevention strategies and warning signs
- Sense of empowerment to create positive change

The programme includes 20 Scenario Cards, 15 Principles Cards, 5 Prompt Cards and a Guidance Booklet.

The Wellbeing Toolkit for Mental Health Leads

A Comprehensive Training Resource to Support Emotional Wellbeing in Education & Social Care

By Tina Rae, Amy Such & Jo Wood

This mammoth collection of quick, engaging and effective resources brings together techniques adapted from NLP, Life-Coaching and Positive Psychology to provide an essential and flexible classroom resource for teachers working with students to promote the key skills of social and emotional resilience.

The 20 practical and accessible modules provide all of the necessary resources to enable you to maintain and enhance the well-being of the children and young people that you nurture and support, while also developing staff confidence and whole-school approaches which will support the wellbeing of the whole school community. Comprehensive, accessible, tried-and-tested classroom lessons are provided and cross-referenced throughout for easy identification.

This resource provides a knowledge base and set of tools to enable you to support the young people in your care in the most effective and ethically safe manner, drawing on a range of evidence-based approaches that promote mental and emotional health and wellbeing. The tools and strategies can be used easily and effectively by education professionals who are not therapists, but who would like to interact in a more therapeutic, nurturing and informed manner.

This new and innovative programme contains the most recent thinking and definitions around specific difficulties or mental health issues such as anxiety, ADHD, ASD, body image, anorexia, school phobia, grief and loss, trauma and Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs), attachment issues and mental health issues arising from using social media or online pornography. Reference is made to DSM-V criteria ensuring this is the most up-to-date and cutting-edge resource in terms of supporting and informing Mental Health Leads and their work in both school and the wider community.

101 Activities for Positive Thoughts & Feelings

Easy to implement activities and ideas to help young people to regard themselves, their abilities and the world around them in a positive light.

By Sue Jennings

Many young people have low feelings of self-worth, and lack confidence in their skills and abilities. This can lead to anxiety and a fear of failure, and a 'Why bother, I won't be able to do it anyway' approach to tasks and challenges they may encounter, and even deliberate sabotage of activities. Using the ideas in this book, young people can be helped to increase their optimism and discover a step by step approach to building competencies in different areas of their lives.

The Anger Management Toolkit

Understanding & Transforming Anger in Children & Young People

By Sue Jennings

Creative activities to help understand & manage feelings of anger.

Young people often express themselves through anger, in sudden outbursts with little pause for thought and out of proportion to the trigger.

This innovative toolkit suggests alternative responses and ways of understanding the underlying causes, with ideas that can be adapted for individuals or groups.

With age-appropriate methods the theme of the Wolf is used to help understand and respond to feelings. Wolves have many facets: they can be very angry but also very nurturing; loners as well as protective of others.

Think it Through Anger Game

A discussion game exploring anger triggers and how to deal with them

By Hilary Whates

This diverse board game challenges players to consider a range of scenarios which may cause feelings of anger and provides a calm platform to discuss appropriate and inappropriate ways to deal with the situation. By playing the game participants have an opportunity to recognise their personal anger 'triggers' and look at alternative ways they could overcome their usual response.

This easy to understand game begins when players move around the board in turn. Landing on a 'Situation Square' delivers a 'Solve it!' card to the player. This describes a scenario which includes an anger trigger and offers several ways to deal with it. Players must discuss and decide which they feel is the most appropriate course of action from those provided – or look for their own solutions. The game can be played on a one-to-one basis or in groups – either way it provides an ideal platform to discuss specific issues and coping strategies. The facilitator can use all the cards provided or select key ones relevant to the players.

Anger Management Discussion Cards

The perfect way to help young people talk about anger-inducing situations and how they would cope

By E A Morris

Choose from more than 40 scenarios to allow young people to open up about situations that are likely to make them angry. Users pick a card and discuss that scenario, either one to one or in small groups. The facilitator can turn the conversation onto the user's beliefs and values that are being challenged by the situation suggested on the card. This can be followed up by role-play and the opportunity to practise different strategies for dealing with similar situations. Contains:

- More than 40 cards with scenarios such as 'Your bus is stuck in a traffic jam and you have an exam that starts in 10 minutes.'

- A card of suggested calming-down techniques

- Contains background information, notes for facilitators, and an anger questionnaire, communication assessment form and inventory all ready to print out.

Supporting Children and Teenagers through Grief & Loss

Practical Ideas and Creative Approaches

By Anna Jacobs

A wealth of advice and helpful suggestions for those helping children and young people through bereavement and loss. Those who experience loss through death or separation need support and understanding, both at home and at school. Staff in schools need to understand what to say and what to do, what might help and even what might not, and how to work with families. This book gives an overview of different behaviours you may encounter in school and how to respond, as well as discussing questions children may ask and how to answer them. An individual's understanding of death varies according to their stage of development and the author provides guidance on age-appropriate, honest responses along with a toolkit of creative and arts activities to help students examine and understand their emotions, physical feelings and memories.
